

Dreams

Dreams is a brand new fiction magazine.
We are currently seeking submissions for our first issue.

This country is a land of mythology – a nation beholden to the fever of its fantasies.

Dreams can see the other side.

We want to articulate the unheard echoes: the suburban mysticism and kitchen-sink surrealism that drifts into the aether. This is a magazine that seeks to subvert the mundane.

We are searching for stories from the undergrowth. Prose and poetry that imbues trivial existence with the horror and wonder it deserves. The aim is to collect the dirty texts, the sick romance, the weirdo fan-fic and fudged biography. The park-bench outpourings in satellite towns, the nighttime delusions and daytime TV.

We are looking for prose and poetry that finds strangeness in everyday life.

The parameters of this brief are deliberately non-specific. We look forward to reading your interpretation.

We are accepting submissions of short prose (1000 words max), short stories (3000 words max), and poetry (800 words max). Work must be original and unpublished.

The deadline for submissions is the 1st March 2018
